COLOMBIA | SEPTEMBER 2024

PRESENTATION

Republicanas Populares. Centro de conocimientos y acción colectiva, (Centre for Knowledge and Collective Action) presents the National Bulletin 'Vivas Nos Queremos'. ('We want us alive') Our Observatory of Femicides in Colombia is a crucial tool for the formulation of strategies to safeguard women's lives, serving as a source of information for collective action. The rigorous work we have been carrying out since 2017 through our information system has made it possible to make visible the absence of figures updated data and monitoring of femicidal violence in our country.

The consolidation of a State that guarantees the rights of the majority of the population and the strengthening of institutions are essential to eradicate femicidal violence, which is why we want our analysis to contribute to the democratic transition in Colombia, advocating for actions at local, departmental and national levels that eradicate inequalities and create materials that are conducive to women and girls in all their diversity to live in environments free of violence.

We consider it imperative to address femicidal violence from a structural perspective, linking it to militarization, the neoliberal economic system and historical inequalities based on sex, gender, race, ethnicity and age. Our intention is to offer points of view, reflections and analyses that facilitate progress towards freedom, pleasure and autonomy.

Since 2013, we propose the category of analysis "femicidal neoliberal violence", recognizing that in Colombia, it is essential to contextualize violence against women and its relationship with the neoliberal economic model that perpetuates sexual and racial divisions of labor, placing women in precarious economic conditions and in service jobs, and a considerable number of impoverished men, in legal armies, or on the margins of legality as expressed by Jules Falquet, coining the term men in arms, women in services.<sup>1</sup>

We are certain that facts and numbers without an understanding of the context do not constitute a contribution to the protection of women's lives. It is urgent to understand the realities in order to contribute with other perspectives that allow the construction of individual, family, community and social actions, but, above all, state actions to eradicate violence against women, and with these, the fabric of impoverishment, militarization, exclusion and discrimination in which femicides take place in the country.

This bulletin presents a detailed follow-up of femicides and attempted femicides, using a feminist, materialist, antimilitarist, anticolonial and people's perspective. With more than 40 categories and 150 tags, we classify information since November 2021, using the Power BI platform to analyze statistics and stories that evidence the escalation of femicidal violence.

Between January and September 2024, 671 femicides and 530 attempted femicides were registered in Colombia

Consolidation of feminicides 2024 in Colombia by department

Between January and September 2024, 671 feminicides and 530 attempted feminicides were registered in Colombia. In 2024 the “Observatorio Colombiano de Feminicidios de Republicanas populares. Centro de conocimiento y acción colectiva” (Colombian Observatory of Feminicides of Republicanas populares. Center for Knowledge and Collective Action), registered a total of 671 feminicides.

Feminicides by department September 2024

In September 2024, 74 feminicides were reported in twenty departments of the country, that is, in 63% of the national territory. Outside the country, (1) feminicide of a Colombian migrant woman in Canada was recorded. Of the (74) feminicides registered in September, (15) occurred in Bogotá D.C., (14) in Antioquia and (9) in Cauca. With (4) records per department: Valle del Cauca, Atlántico and Santander, with (3) records per department: Nariño, Bolívar and Chocó, with (2) records per department: Sucre, Norte de Santander and Huila and with (1) record per department: Guajira, Quindío, Caquetá, Cesar, Boyacá, Arauca, Meta and Cundinamarca.

Rural zone: 31%

Urban zone: 65%

Geographical area where the feminicides were committed September 2024

The area where the (74) feminicides occurred during the month of September in Colombia was 65% urban, 23% rural and in 4% of the cases there is no information available.

Age of the women who were victims of feminicide September 2024

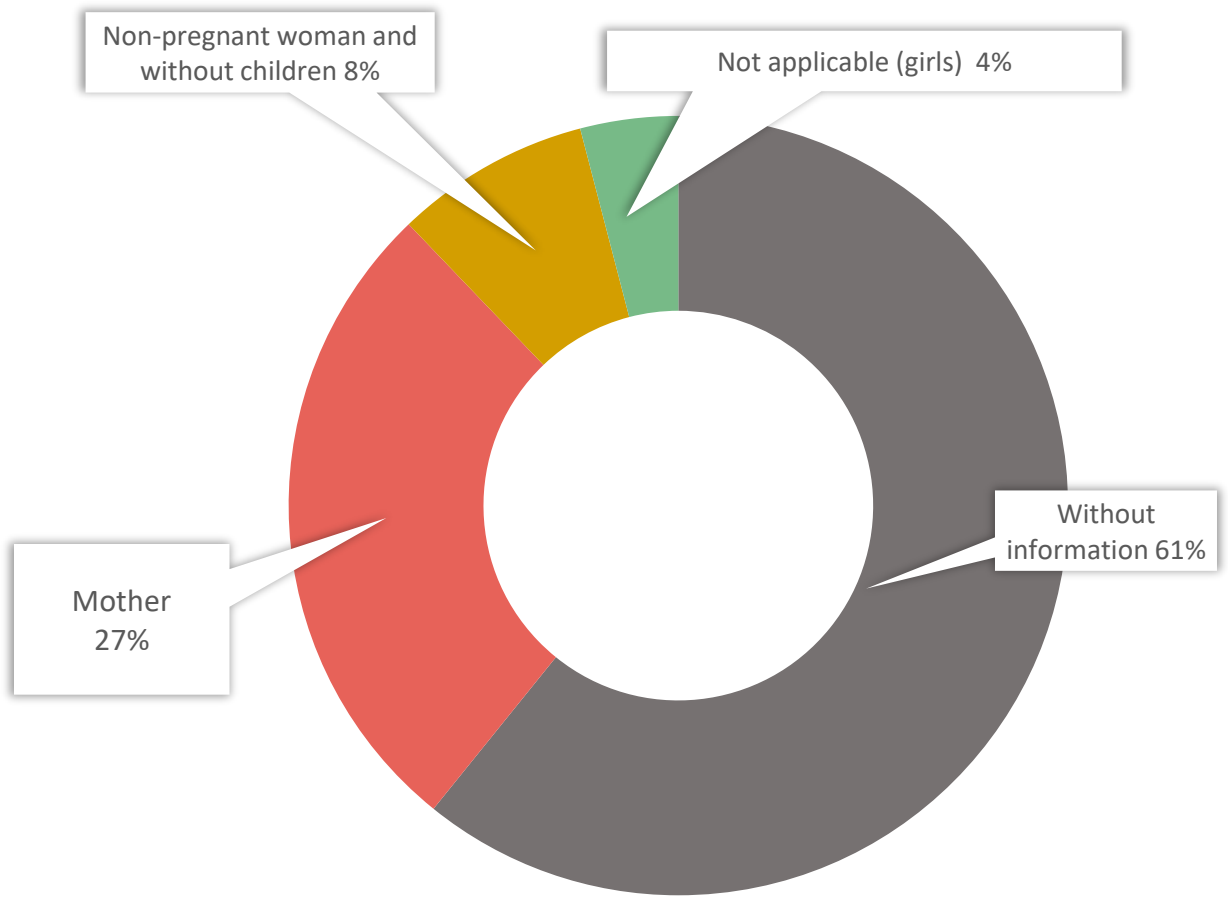

With regard to the age of the (74) female victims of feminicide, the highest record, (11) feminicides, occurred in women between 45 to 49 years old: with (10) records 20 to 24 years old, with (7) records 25 to 29 years old, with (5) records by age range: 30 to 34 years and 35 to 39 years of age, with (4) records by age range: 18 to 19 years and 50 to 54 years, with (3) records 15 to 17 years, with (2) records by age range: 55 to 59 years and 70 to 74 years and with (1) record by age range: 00 to 04 years, 05 to 09 years, 10 to 14 years, 60 to 64 years and 80 years and over. The age of (16) female victims of femicide is unknown.

The femicides of young women and girls show how the limits of care for the lives of those who should be at the center of society, politics and the state, are increasingly exceeded by the femicidal subjects. This month we have (6) records of young women under 18 years of age.

Mothers and pregnant women who were victims of femicide September 2024

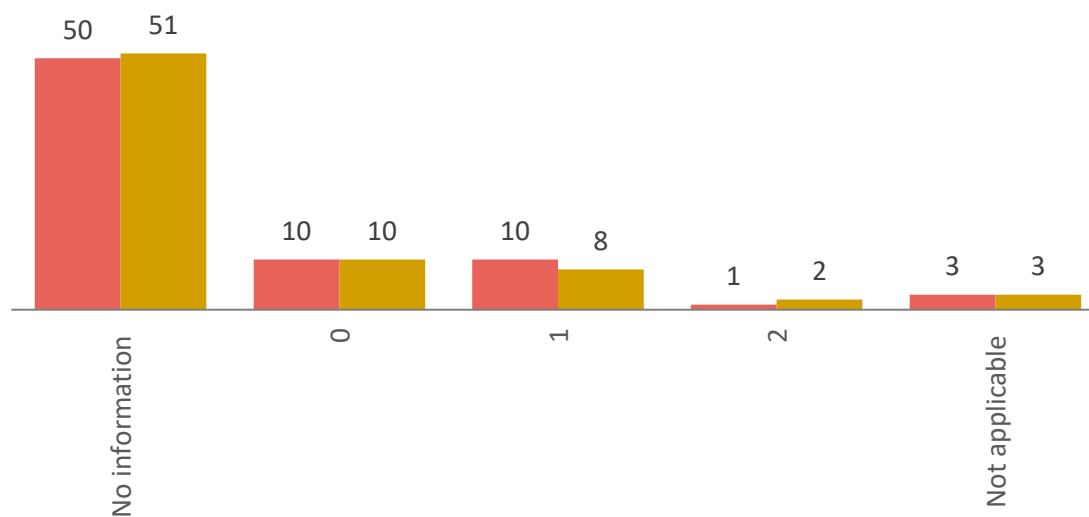

Women who care for life, who are mothers, continue to be attacked by neoliberal femicidal violence. In September of (74) femicides (20) were committed against women who were mothers, which corresponds to 27% of feminicides. (6) women were not mothers and did not have sons and daughters. There is no information in (45) records and in (3) it does not apply because they were female children.

What does the murder of women mothers imply for a society? These feminicides, in addition to showing the orphanhood of minor girls and boys when feminicide occurs, also reveal how the role of power and the support of social reproduction performed by women mothers loses value and respect in the patriarchal and neoliberal context.

Number of minor children motherless due to feminicide September 2024

Of the (74) women murdered in September 2024, (10) had 0 daughters and (10) had 0 sons, (10) had 1 daughter and (8) had 1 son, (1) had 2 daughters and 2 had (2) sons. In (50) records there is no information on the number of daughters and in (51) on the number of sons. In (3) case it does not apply because it is a girl.

24

Children lost their mothers due to neoliberal feminicidal violence recorded in September 2024

Identity of the women who were victims of feminicide September 2024

Social identity

In the category we named social identity, out of (74) records (35) were urban women, (21) had no information, (9) were migrants, (4) were street dwellers, (1) was a community leader, (1) was a peasant woman and (3) did not apply.

Ethnic-racial belonging

The ethnic-racial belonging of the (74) women murdered in September (42) were mestizos, in (27) records there is no information and (5) were Afro-descendant women.

Gender identity

Regarding the gender identity of the (74) women victims of femicide in September, (72) were cisgender women, (1) was a trans woman. There is no information available on (1) case.

Economic activity of the victims

The economic activity of the (74) women murdered in September was: (5) were informal vendors, (4) were informal workers, (3) were business owners and in (3) it does not apply because they were children. With (2) records for each economic activity: drug vendors, sex workers and formal workers. The (52) records without information continue to show that several media outlets focus on narrating the spectacle of cruelty<sup>2</sup> to which the women were subjected, without being interested in narrating their lives, environments, jobs, etc.

Feminicidal subject

In September 2024, of the (74) feminicides committed, the feminicidal subjects with the highest number of records were (16) cases perpetrated by a known feminicidal subject and (15) by a hitman, (9) by drug trafficking structures, (5) were committed by a mafia criminal gang, (4) by common crime, with (2) records for each feminicidal subject: narco-mafia gang, police and guerrilla, with (1) record for each feminicidal subject: military, tenant and man unknown to the woman. In (16) records there is no information on the feminicide subject.

Number of feminicidal subjects

Feminicidal violence as an expression of power over women's bodies has been committed by men, both individually and in groups. In September 2024 (24) of the (74) femicides were committed by 1 feminicide subject, in (24) there is no information on the number of feminicide subjects, (13) were committed by 2 subjects, (12) by several subjects and (1) by 3 subjects.

Weapon used to commit feminicide

The relationship between militarization and the level of the use of firearms to commit feminicides in September continues to show a high trend. In this month of 2024, of the (74) registered feminicides, (44) were committed with firearms, which is 59%. There is no information available for (13) records, (9) were committed with a sharp weapon, (4) with the aggressor's hands, with (2) records for each weapon used: blunt object and explosive.

Method of elimination

The method of elimination is related to the weapon used, of the (74) feminicides registered this month in (45) feminicides the women were shot, in (5) records the women were stabbed and in (4) beaten. With (2) records for each method of disposal: cut and slit throat, with (1) record for each method of disposal: explosion, strangled and asphyxiated. In (3) records the method of disposal is unknown and in (10) no information is available.

Violence associated with the feminicide

Violence associated with feminicide refers to the violence that the perpetrator or perpetrators inflict on the woman before committing the feminicide and/or with her corpse. It is important to clarify that the number of associated violence does not coincide with the number of feminicides, since a woman can be the victim of several forms of associated violence.

This month, in (44) of the (74) registered feminicides the women were shot, in (36) the women's bodies were publicly exposed, with (6) records for each associated violence: Over Kill (viciousness) and stabbed, in (5) they had been missing before the feminicide, in (4) they were beaten, (3) were in the presence of minors, with (2) records for each associated violence: burned, cut, carnal access and beheaded, with (1) record for each associated violence: tied up, presented as suicide, strangled, suffocated and dismembered. Of the (7) records, there is no information on the associated violence.

Location of the crime

In September, of the (74) femicidas recorded (18) were committed in the victim's home, (12) on urban roads, (8) in commercial premises, (4) on intermunicipal roads, with (3) records for each place of the: rural road, rural green area and private transport, with (2) records for each place of the facts: hotel, home of a third, workplace of the victim and public transport, with (1) records for each place of the crime: urban green area and public sports space. There is no information available for (13) records.

The public space is the scene of exposure of lethal violence against women, and through this scene of death and cruelty, patriarchal power sends messages about its effectiveness and power of domination of social reproduction<sup>3</sup> and thus of social order.

Place where the body was found

Some of the femicidas are committed in places other than where the women's bodies were recovered. Several femicidal subjects have transported the bodies of the murdered women to other places seeking a higher level of impunity or exposure of the femicida. On other occasions, women and girls are found with vital signs and are taken to health centers where they later die.

In September, of the (74) femicidas recorded, (19) of the female victims were found in a medical center, (13) in the victim's home, (6) in a commercial establishment, (5) on an urban road, with <sup>3</sup> The concept of social reproduction is taken up again, expressing that social reproduction is all the activities that sustain the lives of human beings as "seres sociales y encarnados, que no solo necesitan comer y dormir, sino también criar a sus hijos, preocuparse por sus familias y sostener sus comunidades, todo eso mientras buscan hacer realidad sus esperanzas para el futuro" which translates to: social and embodied beings, who need not only to eat and sleep, but also to raise their children, care for their families and sustain their communities, all the while seeking to realize their hopes for the future.

(Cindia Arruza, 2019, pág. 99)

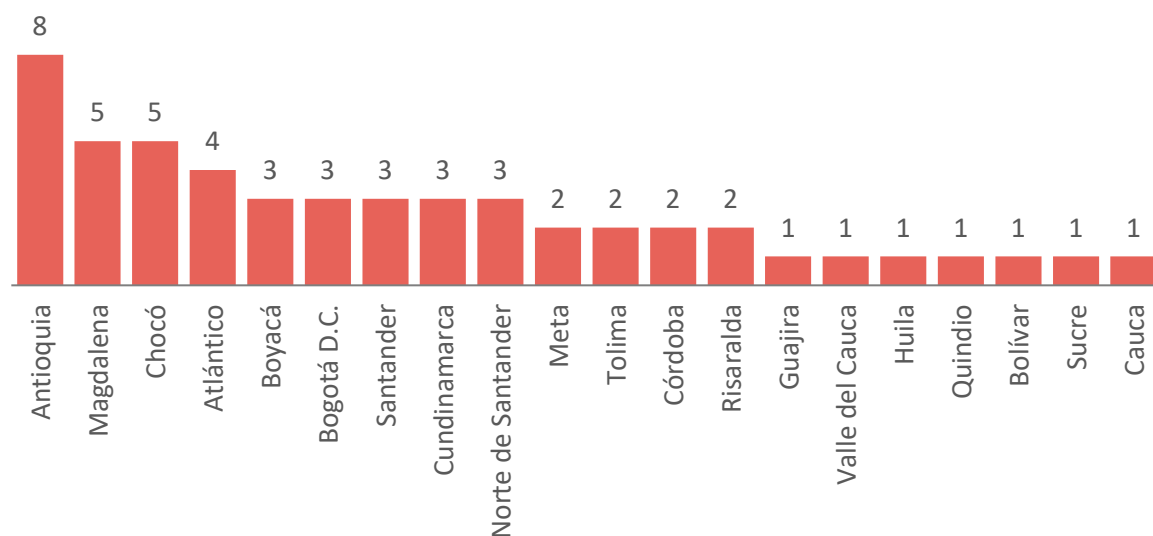

(4) records for each place where the femicide was committed: rural road and rural green zone, with (3) records for each place where the femicide was committed: intermunicipal road and stream or river, with (2) records for each place where the femicide was committed: hotel, urban green zone, public transport and private transport, with (1) record for each place where the femicide was committed: housing of a third person, workplace and public sports space. In (6) records there is no information on the place where the body was found.

Attempted feminicides

ATTEMPTED FEMINICIDES

In September there were (52) attempted feminicides in 20 of Colombia's 32 departments. This means in 62% of the national territory (52) women survived femicide violence. There were (8) in Antioquia, (5) in Chocó, (5) in Magdalena, (4) in Atlántico, with (3) records per department:

Norte de Santander, Cundinamarca, Santander, Bogotá D.C., and Boyacá, with (2) and (2) in Boyacá. and Boyacá, with (2) records per department: Risaralda, Córdoba and Tolima, with (1) record per department: Santander, Norte de Santander, and Cauca, with (3) records per department: Cauca, Sucre, Bolívar, Quindío, Huila, Valle del Cauca and Guajira.

Lines of interpretation

In September, 74 feminicides were committed in Colombia, a decrease of 19% compared to the previous month. The departments of Bogotá D.C., Antioquia and Cauca are the ones with the highest number of feminicides during this month. Taking into account the rate of prevalence of feminicides of the 3 departments, 0.49 for Bogotá D.C., 0.46 for Antioquia and 1.5 for Cauca, we find that the department of Cauca is positioned as the department with the highest recurrence of feminicides in the country this month.

Nine migrant women were victims of femicide in September, (7) were Venezuelan women, (1) Argentinian and (1) Colombian murdered abroad. Of the total number of feminicides (4) were committed in Bogotá D.C., (2) in Antioquia, (1) in Cauca and (1) in Cundinamarca. In the information published by the media we find that among the women victims there is a minor woman, two women sex workers and three women mothers.

Between August and September, two feminicides were committed against black Colombian migrant women abroad. Deisy Montaña Sinisterra was murdered in August, in Valencia, Spain, Deisy, born in Florida, Valle del Cauca and resident for 3 years in Spain, worked as a cosmetics saleswoman, she was found dead on a beach in Valencia, the case is still under investigation.<sup>4</sup>

In September, 37-year-old Vanessa Renteria Valencia was killed by police in Surrey, Canada, when she was shot with her daughter in her arms inside the residence where she lived with her abuser.

At a press conference on September 26, Angela Marie MacDougall, who works at the Battered Women's Support Service, said that the Royal Canadian Mounted Police's narrative of how Renteria Valencia died implies that she was a dangerous person,

<sup>4</sup> <https://tubarco.news/tragedia-en-espana-deisy-montano-joven-vallecaucana-encontrada-sin-vida-en-una-playa-su-familia-pide-ayuda/>

reinforcing trite narratives used against refugees, women, black and Afro-Latino people. We know that women living in abusive situations take refuge in their bedrooms, guest rooms and bathrooms with their children to establish a physical barrier between them and those they believe could harm them. We know that mothers will fiercely protect their right to parent their children in a context of family violence.<sup>5</sup>

Neoliberal feminicidal violence perpetuated in the family context

Women's movements, feminist and materialist thinkers and activists have been consistent in affirming that neoliberal feminicidal violence is structural, historical and directed against impoverished and working class women. This means that it exists as a strategy of domination to subjugate half of working humanity and thus maintain the hegemony of a rich, white, fascist and patriarchal minority. In this sense it is a constituent violence of an order inherited from the colony that through diverse economic, political, cultural and social strategies builds institutions to maintain the asymmetry of power between men, women, diverse people and sexual dissidents, racism, the sexual and racial division of labor, control and domination through militarization of communities historically excluded from power, and reproduces a perspective on life of sadness, stress, pain, cruelty, individualism, hopelessness, violence, lack of protection and the impossibility of making and being happy in collectivity.

It is important to recognize that one of the institutions that provides the conditions of possibility for this form of control and domination over women, girls and sexual diversities to be maintained and reproduced has been the patriarchal family. Reflecting on neoliberal feminicidal violence from this framework of understanding manages to place us outside the individuation, anomaly, monstrosity, naturalization and biological and pathological attributions or explanations about the feminicidal subjects and, in this way, to locate in structural and material terms the conditions that produce it and the strategies used to normalize and reproduce it.

Of 671 feminicides committed between January and September of this year, 246 were perpetrated by men close to the female victims: permanent partners, boyfriends, fathers, ex-permanent partners, ex-boyfriends, brothers-in-law, brothers, uncles, nephews, sons-in-law, fathers or stepfathers, which represents 37% of the total number of femicide victims.

<sup>5</sup> <https://ici.radio-canada.ca/rci/es/noticia/2108919/refugiada-colombiana-asesinada-policia-canadiense-surrey> <https://www.elheraldo.co/mundo/2024/09/22/lo-que-se-sabe-sobre-la-madre-colombiana-que-fue-asesinada-a-tiros-por-la-policia-de-canada/>

We have found that women who have been victims of femicide and who have been assaulted by partners and ex-partners or boyfriends, are more exposed to violence at times when they reveal themselves to the forms of control exercised by these men and refuse to continue enduring them<sup>6</sup>.

Antioquia is the department with the highest number of feminicides committed by known men. In this department of 96 feminicides perpetuated between January and September, 36 feminicides have been committed by men close to the female victims. In this particular case, we observe the intersection between patriarchy and conservative and therefore patriarchal family practices, which have very specific forms in the paisa family. These forms are the exploitation of feminized bodies by the family and the concealment of abuse and violence by the male members of the family.

Jimena Zapata Rueda, 31, died on Tuesday, August 20, after a three-month battle with second- and third-degree burns to her face, neck and arms. According to the testimonies of her relatives, the events occurred last May 3rd at 5:00 a.m. when Jimena was in a hotel in Medellín and the aggressor burst into her room spraying alcohol and setting fire to her. Despite the seriousness of the situation, the hotel employees and the aggressor did not call the police until 10:00 a.m., at which time she was taken to the San Vicente Fundación hospital in Medellín. According to the testimony of a family member, Jimena had a romantic relationship with this man for three years. During this period, the man physically and psychologically assaulted her and one day he even tried to throw Jimena into the Medellín river, making it look like suicide. 3 months after the attack, a woman burned with alcohol by her ex-partner in Medellín died.<sup>7</sup>

Thus, patriarchal family configurations, together with the existence of a second or parallel state with militaristic, mafia-like and drug-trafficking practices of control and order that have little regulation in the neoliberal state, are the breeding ground for neoliberal feminicidal violence.

The cruelty and exhibitionism that is imprinted in the violence reproduced by mafia structures bifurcates with the patriarchal structure, causing these same levels of cruelty to be imprinted in the violence exercised by men who sometimes belong to criminal gangs towards the feminized bodies of the people who make up their families, daughters, mothers, romantic partners.

So far, a hypothesis has been clarified that points to the girl's stepfather as the main suspect, given that the victim apparently died after being abused and beaten by this man following a fight between the man and her mother. The alleged suspect had a record for drug trafficking, possession and manufacture and also allegedly belonged to a criminal gang operating in the district of Bosa, where he lived with the minor's mother and her two sisters, who are four and eight years old.

The Attorney General's Office announced that Brayan Ramirez, who was the stepfather of Celeste, the three-year-old girl allegedly abused and assaulted who arrived lifeless at the Kennedy hospital, will be taken to jail “for the crimes of pornography and sexual acts with a minor under 14 years of age, both aggravated conducts”. According to the authorities, it was found that Ramirez was receiving videos with explicit content from another minor, between 3 and 4 years old. On Saturday morning, Norberto Hernán Caro, Sectional Chief of Protection and Special Services of the Metropolitan Police of Bogotá, reported that the man had been captured because a video of him committing the crime was found on his cell phone.<sup>8</sup>

The causes and consequences of feminicidal violence in our country are a fundamental part of the country model we wish to change. The process of democratic transition that we are going through at the national level, the strengthening of institutions, the incorporation of the demands that we have historically demanded from the neoliberal state in the institutional framework is what we require to expand democracy, to redistribute wealth, to encourage joy, to live with justice, dignity and benefits for the social majorities.

Understanding the destruction of bonds generated by the loss of women in the community due to feminicidal violence by men from the same community is a fact that generates ruptures of all kinds. It deepens conditions of precariousness because it is women who are the breadwinners of their children, mothers, grandparents and sisters, leaving children orphaned, children who naturalize their growth in contexts of abuse and cruelty and a kind of hopelessness that drags us to no future, to the impossibility of building a nation.

The consolidation of the family in the colonial and heteropatriarchal logic has meant domination, fear, control, violence and exploitation. The necessary economic redistribution for the strengthening of access to health, education, work and leisure is also accompanied by a cultural battle that today embodies more and more young people in all their diversities and is the battle for freedom, love, care for all living things, desired maternities, diverse identities. It is a crucial battle that contributes to the rupture with the mandate of colonial masculinity, fundamental to imagine other lives outside of violence and domination.
